STAT

1. Today [redacted] went to GAO to brief staffers there on his paper. The request came through GAO liaison officer Frank Degnan. I set up the briefing via SOVA/EXO [redacted] but no CIA official accompanied [redacted] to the briefing. The briefing lasted 2-1/2 hours and, according to both [redacted] and Degnan, it was a mutually satisfactory session. [redacted] called me after the briefing to say that: 1) GAO wants more of his advice and help as it continues to study the [redacted] issue, 2) GAO would like to see a copy of a Stanford Research Institute (SRI) study that [redacted] had commissioned while he was a participant in the DCI's Exceptional Analyst Program. According to [redacted] the SRI study is unclassified. I told [redacted] he was not at liberty to release the study and advised him to check with [redacted] said GAO intended to send the DDI a letter expressing appreciation for [redacted] assistance. Meanwhile, [redacted] agreed to supply OLL with a memorandum for the record on the meeting with GAO today.

2. I also informed [redacted] that he will be contacted by Lincoln Hoewing, a staff member on the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee. Mike Mattingly of the SSCI staff requested a [redacted] meeting, acting on behalf of Hoewing who wants to discuss the [redacted] paper. I asked [redacted] to let us know when the meeting takes place and he agreed to do so.
